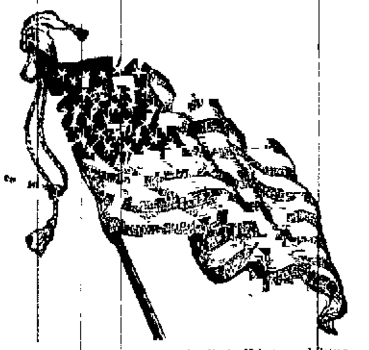
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 16, 1862.

What Southern Union men demand, and what Northern Secessionists will not concede.

Northern secessionists, who call themselves democrats, and who have been sympathizers with treason through the whole course of this civil war—who have publicly and privately rejoiced when disaster has fallen upon our arms, now, that their friends are bound to be crushed down by the strong arm of Government, are anxious to save them from the punishments that they have brought down upon their own heads. They never complained when their infatuated friends were murdering and robbing, and burning the houses of men, women and children, because they loved the Union; but now, looking forward to the coming condition of their rebel bands, they are throwing every obstacle in the way of their punishment. They denounce the confiscation of their property and the hanging of their leaders. They insist that confiscation is unconstitutional, and hanging equally so. In their view, the Constitution of the United States is intended for the encouragement of rebellion, the protection of traitors, and the destruction of the Government. They have never seen, nor can they see, that the South has violated the Constitution, and that the rebels who have done this are chargeable with treason. They think that the North very properly must submit to the butchery of her people—most gladly pay the cost of crushing the rebellion, and that the villains who have caused all the evils that now so heavily fall on the country, must go free. That is the policy which suits these sympathizers—who, at the same time, are proclaiming on the house-tops, that they are Union men! Not thus are the feelings of the true Union men, North or South. They say that the South commenced this war without cause. In the language of the Chicago Post, (edited by the biographer of Mr. Douglas)—"There was no justification for rebellion, and no man can honestly say there was. No man can honestly say that there was not ample remedy under the Constitution for every evil. The Constitution was good enough for eighty years, and it was ample in its protective qualities for a thousand years to come. The rebellion in one year has done more to damage slavery than all the abolitionists could have done in a century." THESE ARE LIVING TRUTHS.

We believe that the rebels should be punished. They well knew in the outset the punishments due to treason—and THEY "MUST STAND THE HAZARD OF THE DIE." That is the feeling of the loyal North. What the loyal sentiment of the South demands, the Nashville Union, Gov. Johnson's organ, thus declares:

"We believe that we speak the sentiment of every sound Union man in Tennessee, when we say that our Government should not listen one moment to any proposition for a compromise, coming from the rebel leaders. We hear rumors from various quarters that some such offer will be made to the Administration. Let the reply be that we will listen to no proposition from the rebels save that of an unconditional and immediate surrender, and a return to obedience to the laws of the land. We cannot compromise away one jot or tittle of the laws and constitution of the United States. They must be obeyed implicitly, without reservation or abatement, by all sections. We will not treat with rebels and traitors. They know their duty, let them perform it. Let there be lenity and forgiveness for the masses who have been deceived, and banishment, imprisonment and death for the leaders, who have been the deceivers. If the Government does less than this, it will itself be guilty of treason to the people."

The Clarksville (Va.) Telegraph is equally explicit. Speaking to the same point, says:

"Now we [illegible] have the leading rebels punished—they ought to be punished severely, because if they are turned loose without punishment, they will remain as so much fungi on the body politic, that would eventually prove its destruction. We are in favor of an act of confiscation as stringent as the Constitution will permit. * * * A traitor who willingly and knowingly commits treason does not deserve to own a dollar, and the law does not even permit him to own his life."

The loyal people of the North, and everywhere, will not be satisfied until the leading rebels are punished in their property and persons for their great crimes against humanity and free government. Stern justice is sure to befall them;—the sympathizers in their treason, in the North, cannot save them.

Gen. Butler's kind provision for the poor of New Orleans has made him popular, and caused hundreds to enlist in the Union army.

The Overland Emigration—Immense Numbers of People Coming.

We have news from Fort Benton that the steamers have arrived there, with 350 passengers, and freight, bound for Oregon and Washington Territory. Many of these emigrants must have reached the mines ere this time.

We have letters and papers from Nebraska, which speak of the immense numbers of people moving for this Coast. The Omaha Republican of May 23d, says:

THE TIDE STILL FLOWS.—E. Creighton, Esq., Superintendent of the Pacific Telegraph Line, informed us, last night, that he met 472 teams between the Elkhorn river (20 miles distant) and this city, on his return from Fort Kearney. Between the last named point and Omaha, Mr. C. met 1,400 wagons.

We have communications of the same date, May 23d, from Omaha. These say that "the emigration to the newly discovered mining region of Oregon and Washington Territory, during the present season, is without a parallel in the history of the country. From the States to the East of us, the emigration will be immense. Thousands have already gone, and the cry is, 'still they come!' The steamer Emily, from St. Louis, passed up the river yesterday for the mouth of the Yellow Stone, there to connect with a light draft steamer for Fort Benton. She had on board 150 emigrants for Salmon river."

Another communication from Omaha, says—"Long trains pass through this city daily, for the same destination, over the great Platte Valley waste, and I am informed that we have as yet seen only 'the beginning of the end.'"

So far, it appears, that the overland emigration is coming by the Platte Valley route.

In a month, thousands upon thousands of emigrants from the East, will be added to the great population now in the mines; and many of these emigrants will finally work their way here. Some will "strike good things" in the mines; some will take up claims in the upper country; some will locate in our towns and cities, and we hope many will find farms where they will make happy homes in the Willamette Valley—and some, when they find that money cannot be made without toil and effort, will complain of the mines, of the country, of everything they hear, see and suffer, and wish themselves back over the mountains again. The reward is for those who persevere.

BATTLE AT WILLIAMSBURG.—From the official report of Gen. Birney, we take the following closing extract, which shows that our old friend, James C. Strong, brother of Judge W. Strong of Cathlamette, distinguished himself in the late battle of Williamsburg:

"Lieutenant Colonel Strong, Thirty-eighth New York Regiment, deserves special mention for his gallant conduct. His wound, although disabling him, I am happy to report is not mortal, and he will soon be returned to his regiment."

The battle was a hard contested fight, the result of which was published several days ago. We are pleased to hear of the brave actions of our fellow-citizens, and this is but one of a number of instances in which citizens of this far-off country have rendered their names illustrious by their valor and patriotism displayed upon the battle field, in the cause of their country's honor. All honor to Col. Strong, and his and our fellow-countrymen.

SOLDIER DROWNED.—The body of a soldier was found in the Willamette river, at Matheny's Ferry, Yamhill county, on Monday last. He was supposed to be a Corporal. An inquest was held by Coroner Crawford, and the jury's verdict was that he came to his death by drowning in the Willamette river. No marks of violence could be found on his person. He had on a sabre and cartridge box; had red whiskers and moustache, and dark, sandy hair, and was about 5 feet 8 inches high. Had a paper in his pocket, supposed to be a guard list, with the names of I. C. Mattney, M. B. Hendricks, Wm. Miller, J. W. Jones, J. W. Hillery and M. Whitfield; but his own name was not found.

SAN FRANCISCO ITEMS.—The following telegraphic items are from the Union of the 9th:

A trotting match for two hundred and fifty dollars a side, between Levengston's Chief and a horse owned by Henry George, to go from San Francisco to San Mateo, twenty-one miles, came off on the 9th. Chief made the trip in one hour and fourteen minutes, beating the other horse three minutes. Considerable money was depending on the result.

The San Francisco papers of the 9th have a story about a young girl who has been severely beaten by the disembodied spirit of her mother, who died long ago. The police are investigating the matter.

The price of tobacco is constantly advancing; sugar of all kinds firm.

THE OVERLAND EMIGRATION.—A dispatch from Omaha, of June 10th, says:

The overland emigrant escort sent by Government left this morning for the west. The emigration is larger than ever before. Six thousand teams have passed the river at this point alone.

The rebels are obliged to force unwilling men into the rebel army, while the Government, calling for soldiers, receives in five days an eager response from fifty thousand men.—That's what's the matter!

LACONIC.—General O. M. Mitchell recently telegraphed to Secretary Stanton for instructions in regard to bridge burners and guerrillas. The Secretary's answer was specific. "Let them swing."

Fourth of July at Belpassi.

BELPASSI, July 6 1862.

Editor Oregonian:

The Union loving citizens of Belpassi and vicinity, to the number of about three hundred, assembled at the C. P. Church in this place, on the Fourth, for the purpose of celebrating the Anniversary of American Independence. H. P. Jackson acted as Marshal. The order of exercises was about as follows:

Opening prayer, by Rev. Neil Johnson.

Music, by a portion of the Belpassi Band, assisted by Prof. G. W. Jackson.

Reading the Declaration of Independence, by Hon. Joseph Engle.

Orations, by E. W. Engle and Joel H. Johnson.

After which the audience marched to the Bower, where they partook of a sumptuous dinner prepared by the fair ladies of the neighborhood. The wants of the inner man being satisfied, they repaired to the house, when the regular and volunteer toasts were read and responded to.

The following gentlemen were then loudly called for who responded in brief patriotic speeches, viz: J. M. Lavater, J. D. Garrett, N. Johnson and Joseph Engle.

The audience then dispersed. There were but three or four secesh present. Belpassi is sound on the Union.

Yours truly,
BELPASSI.

THE RIGHT WING.—When the telegraph announced that the rebels advanced across the Chickahominy in great force, and attacked the right wing of McClellan's army, we concluded that it must be a mistake, as we understood the whole Union army had crossed the Chickahominy. But the New York papers explain the matter. The left wing and the center had crossed the Chickahominy, but the right remained on the east and north side of that river. Thus the army was placed two thirds on one side of the river, and one-third on the other side. This was certainly an inconvenient if not a dangerous position for an army to occupy. It placed the right where it was exposed to an attack by superior numbers, and where it was difficult to reinforce it from the opposite side of the river. Of this condition of things the rebels were well apprised, and when they discovered that McClellan was about to move his left and centre towards James river, they fell upon the isolated right wing with great force and fury, hoping to overwhelm it. But the steady courage and close fighting of the Union troops defeated their plans, and forced the rebels to fall back on Richmond, leaving McClellan to carry out his plan of changing the base of his operations. It is probable that the necessity of defending his base of operations at the White House compelled the General in command to keep a portion of his army east of the Chickahominy. Be this as it may, it is evident that a forward movement situated as the Union army was, with a river dividing it, could not be made except at the risk of a repulse, and hence the determination of the commanding General to change his line of operations to James river, where his army would be together and where he could obtain the assistance of the gunboats. In spite of the most desperate efforts of the rebels, McClellan accomplished his purpose. He removed his army to James river and his base of operations. He is now almost as near Petersburg as Richmond, and if he so determines can easily capture the latter city, and take possession of the great Southern Railroad. From that point he could approach Richmond from the south and bombard the city from the south bank of James river. One of his first undertakings will probably be the capture of Fort Darling, which will open the river to the gunboats.—When this is accomplished the fate of Richmond may be considered as sealed.

ACT TO PUNISH FRAUDULENT CONTRACTS.—The act to prevent and punish fraud on the part of officers intrusted with making contracts with the Government, which has just been approved by the President, establishes an office in which all contracts are to be filed for public inspection. Officers making contracts are required to swear that they concluded the same without any benefit or advantage to themselves or to any other persons. The penalty for a violation of the law is not less than $100, nor more than $500, and imprisonment not more than six months.

BRITISH NEUTRALITY.—About 20,000 Enfield rifles have recently been captured by our navy, together with the vessels containing them, while in the act of attempting to run the blockade. It is said that English speculators in arms have shipped about 20,000 Enfield rifles to Nassau, where they dispose of them to rebel agents, who reship them with the expectation of running the blockade. This is the way our British cousins have been acting the neutral toward their own blood in order to prevent the horrors of civil war.

THE CURRENT OF PUBLIC OPINION.—The Major of one of the regiments recently arrived here from New York, a well known democratic Alderman [Maj. Bagley, N. Y. 69th] assured a friend this evening that although he had, up to the time of his leaving, opposed any interference with the slaves either of rebels or Union men, his observations in Virginia during the present week had satisfied him that they were the main support of the rebels, and should in every instance be confiscated.

The battle of Ball's Bluff was the result of a bottle of whisky. Gen. Evans, the rebel commander, received orders not to engage our troops in case they crossed the river, but to fall back. However, a federal courier was taken and some important dispatches found, which were brought to Gen. Evans, just as he had finished a bottle of "old rye." Under its effect, he disregarded his instructions, fought our troops and won a victory. He was courtmartialed for disobedience, found guilty, but his victory saved him his sword and commission.

Our New England cotton manufacturers do not seem to be at all alarmed at the recent burning of that staple on the part of the rebels. The stocks of goods on hand are so large that there is no doubt of an ample supply of cotton to meet the consumption for many months to come, and the manufacturers will be benefited rather than injured by having come forward for the remainder of the year slowly and at high prices.

The contractor to build rebel gunboats at New Orleans was driven from that city because he failed to complete them in time, and was hung in a hotel piazza at Natchez. He is reported to have defrauded the Confederates of some $600,000, which he invested in English and French funds.

The attention of the community is respectfully solicited to the New Goods arrived by the last steamer—embracing a full line of Ladies' Silk Mantillas, French Bonnets, Florence new style Hats, Challis, Poplins, and Delaines, together with a full assortment of Gents New Style [illegible] Cassimere Suits, Fancy Stocks, Broadway styles of Business Suits, and the very latest fashion of Parisian and New York Fancy Summer Panama Hats and Light Cassimere Hats. All the articles are now ready for sale, and can be seen at Harkers' New Building on First street, in the rear of Commercial Wharf.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public Speakers and Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already reached to a position which places it as well as its proprietor far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country, as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has been so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the Ricord in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography is published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's office is at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—The examination of the Primary Department of the Academic School of this city passed off yesterday quite satisfactory and creditable to all concerned. The following order of recitation will be pursued at the Academy to-day at nine o'clock.

Reading Scripture and prayer
Astronomy and Natural Philosophy
Ten o'clock—University Arithmetic
Eleven o'clock—Geology and History
Twelve o'clock—Virgil's Eneid and Composition
One P. M.—Algebra, Geometry, and Surveying.
Two P. M.—Mental Philosophy
Seven and a half, P. M.—Address by Hon J. G. Wilson, at M. E. Church
Thursday, nine A. M.—Morning Devotions Butler's Analogy and Zoology
Ten o'clock—Kames' Elements Criticism and Logic.
Eleven o'clock—French and Rhetoric
Twelve o'clock—Botany and Physiology
Seven and a half P. M.—Exercises of Graduating Class
Friday—Seven and a half P. M.—Reunion at the Seminary

SUPREME COURT—Second Day—In addition to attendance upon Monday of attorneys Messrs Johnson, Wait and Ellsworth were present. Justice Stratton has not yet arrived.

Curry county vs Coos county—Writ of error; was dismissed for want of prosecution and cause remanded at cost of Curry county.

Ruckel and Olmstead vs Boston—Judgment affirmed in default of prosecution of writ of error. Amount, $1453 21.

Dodge vs Koenig—Judgment affirmed in default of prosecution of writ of error—Amount, $47 29.

Argument in case of Burns vs Smith was concluded. Argument in case of Starr vs Unger & Co concluded.

BOUQUETS.—We were shown yesterday evening a very nice glass case which No. 1 Fire Company has [illegible] in which are safely and neatly deposited the several bouquets presented to the Company by several lady friends. The "boys" take good care of all such handsome presents and duly appreciate the kind regards and friendship of all the fair donors.

ARRIVAL OF THE HUNT.—The steamer Wilson G Hunt arrived last evening from the Cascades, with some twenty five passengers, but no news or express matter, as there was no connection above the Dalles.

RETURNING.—We have seen several of our acquaintances who have returned from the Salmon river country within the last few days—many of whom do not give very encouraging accounts from there, but large quantities of gold dust still continues to arrive.

"GRUB."—Among the many excellent places in this city, where the "hungry man" can be bountifully fed, we know of none superior to "Taylor's Restaurant," corner of First and Morrison streets. We speak from experience, and know what we say. Just go in, and taste for yourselves, everybody.

ELECTION IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—But meagre returns of the election in Washington Territory has as yet been received. We are inclined to the opinion, however, that the "Dixie Ticket" has been elected in Clarke county; but as far as heard from, the Union ticket has carried Cowlitz county by a handsome majority. Mr Cochrane, the Union candidate for Councilman from the District of Clarke, Cowlitz, and Pacific counties, has doubtless been elected.

PLANKING.—The improvement of Front street still progresses, and in the course of a few days more, will be as passable as planks can make it.

TRAIN IN ENGLAND.—George Francis Train has elected a trainway candidate to Parliament. He covered the cars with electioneering posters, carried the voters to the polls and gave the English a touch of the style in which we manage elections in the United States.

ASKING QUESTIONS.—There are few [illegible] more delicate than interrogating Sabbath School scholars, especially young scholars. This is shown by the experience related of a clergyman in Maine who was [illegible] having a [illegible] in Sabbath school. He thought it important to all and [illegible] for the entertainment of the children. He offered to address the school and show that they could be well entertained seriously. The following dialogue ensued:

"Children, I am going to tell you about Peter. Who knows who Peter was?"

No answer was made.

"Cannot any one of the large girls tell me who Peter was?"

Still no reply.

"Can any little boy or girl in the school tell me who Peter was?"

"I can," said a little fellow in the further corner.

"Ah, that's a good boy. Now you come up on the platform by my side and stand up in this chair, and tell these large girls who Peter was."

Jimmy did as he was bid, and in the shrill voice of childhood repeated:

"Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater,
Had a wife and couldn't keep her."

At this point he was stopped, but not before the full point was taken by the school, and Mother Goose's poem appreciated.

GREAT INUNDATION IN ENGLAND.—The great plain in the Eastern part of England known as the Fens, has been overflowed by the [illegible] breaking through the barriers erected against it. That section, watered by the Ouse, the Neve and other rivers, comprises over one thousand square miles as level and low as Holland. By the bursting of a sluice near Lynn the sea rushed in over the country, laying 15,000 acres under water the first tide. It was expected that on the next visitation 100,000 acres would be inundated to the depth of several feet. Men and animals were driven from their dwellings, and produce was floating about or being destroyed. It was feared that the total loss will amount to more than one million sterling.

The London Times is splendidly illustrating its ignorance of American geography as well as of American affairs generally. It seems to have a vague notion that New Orleans is somewhere in the Southwest, near a lake called Pontchatrain, and that there is a Gen. Grant with an army somewhere in that section of country. Out of this it makes an admirable jumble, asserting that the city was taken by Gen. Grant, who conveyed his troops across Lake Pontchatrain in transports, and thus achieved an easy victory! There could hardly be a fairer commentary on the intelligence with which the Times always treats of American affairs.

BALLOON TELEGRAPHING.—The Fort Monroe correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says that in a recent engagement the fire of some of our batteries was directed from Lowe's reconnoitering balloon. A telegraph wire, attached to an instrument on board, conveyed intelligence to our men what to do and corrected any mistakes made by the transmission of such messages as "Too short," "Just a little over," "Fire lower," "The last shot took them," &c. The enemy could not be seen by the men at the batteries, and our batteries in turn were hid from the view of the enemy, the majority of whose shots fell wide of the mark.

BIG WORK.—The Chicago Tribune, in reviewing the affairs before Corinth, says:

Our army, since Gen. Halleck took command at Pittsburg Landing, has built, incredible as the story may sound, more than fifty miles of intrenchments, and full two hundred miles of wagon roads! Four parallels, each more than 12 miles in length, three or four roads—wide, corduroyed and bridged—leading from the landing to each corps d'armee—all the work of our men, many of whom never before handled a spade or an axe in all their lives.

WASHINGTON SPIES.—The Government has lately made several arrests in Washington, some of whom were women, says a letter in the New York Post. Spies have abounded for the last two weeks. It is now considered certain by the War Department that a very intelligent Southern rebel officer spent several days in Washington week before last, and visited the fortifications around the city, afterward returning to Dixie. Every movement of our troops is instantly known in Richmond and by all the leading rebel generals in all parts of the South.

LOSSES DURING THE CAMPAIGN.—The New York Herald has a table of losses in killed and wounded since the commencement of the war, which would show (adding the losses at the battle before Richmond as at present estimated) that the number killed will be something under 6,000, and that of the wounded about 22,000.

REBEL DESTRUCTIVENESS.—It is estimated that the property destroyed by the Rebels since the war commenced, to prevent the same from falling into Union hands, amounts to $70,000,000.

SOMEBODY OWES.—The present liabilities of the Southern Confederacy figure up $410,000,000. One fourth of the sum is for property destroyed, one fourth treasury notes, while $[illegible],000,000 is due soldiers.

Three of the passengers on board the last ship which left Massachusetts with British colors, before the Revolution, are now living. The vessel was the Minerva, and sailed from Marblehead eighty-seven years ago, May 27, 1775. The surviving passengers are Miss Copley, Mrs. Gardiner Green, and Lord Lyndhurst—all children of Copley, the great artist.

Gov. Pierpont, the loyal Governor of Virginia, says one year's rebellion has stripped that State of all its material wealth but slaves.

The Fourth passed off gloriously in all the principal towns of California. San Francisco celebrated it with unusual splendor.

The San Francisco Herald is now owned by an association of business men, and will be devoted to the Union cause.

Fifteen thousand flags were sold in San Francisco during the fortnight preceding the Fourth.

News from New York has been received at Shanghai in [illegible] days by telegraph and steamer.

Counterfeit gold dollars are in circulation. They are light and coppery, and have no ring.
